

Is your insurer asking you to jump through hoops?

Aren't you in enough pain?

- Here at Allied, we don't believe that insurance companies should dictate your rehabilitation experience.
- Unlike insurance, our cash package does not limit the amount of one-on-one time spent with our highly trained Doctors of Physical Therapy (DPT).
- More one-on-one time with your DPT also means more personal attention to your individual life experience, leading to more uniquely tailored therapies to enhance your particular life goals.
- Longer sessions allow DPTs to thoroughly review their treatment plans with their patients, getting you back to what you love a lot sooner.
- Participation in our affordable cash pay program saves you time and money; more time spent during each visit means you visit less frequently – achieving the same results with less time investment. This means more time doing what you love!
